WHAT DO WE BELIEVE?

OUR VISION STATEMENT

Mentoring and educating those affected by human exploitation, by empowering them to discover their authentic self, thereby commanding them to take charge of their own future.

OUR MISSION STATEMENT

To offer programs and resources that educate and empower human exploitation survivors, offenders, and at-risk children and youth, while contributing to the reduction of the actual demand of human trafficking.

More Too Life, Inc’s Professional Development HTE Prevention and Partners are the highest-quality training organizations in the field. They are considered an extension of the MTL team and serve the experts across all of our growing network and tools, will drive incredible results through the training practices. Most of all, they engage with victims of all ages, (at-risk) youth, local communities and all professionals engaged in the urgency of human trafficking prevention and human development in the age of technology.

Most victims, including high-risk youth, are left behind. With the increasing level of crimes via technology, and the complexity of digital devices, augmented and virtual reality the current capabilities of tech savvy companies surpass the knowledge of the average citizen, let alone high-risk youth and victims of exploitation, that first and foremost must be aware of the dangers luring on the Internet. Social media addiction, cyber bullying, pornography and other harmful online behaviors along with the growing numbers of real-world violent predator behavior, coupled with the widespread hate speech are often the root cause of HTE and other challenges that affect human development. Our work is to equip youth and those that mentor and teach them to be able to survive and thrive in today’s society, as they leave the past behind them.

The premise of continued violence against our youth and being left behind is not an option. MTL and our partners can work with you to create a customized plan that meets all your HTE prevention training and technology education implementation needs. We can also help ensure your NGO or company is well equipped to maintain a successful professional development HTE Prevention including a Digital Integrity Program that continues well beyond the initial training sessions.
OUR VALUES

- We believe in creating a “Culture of Love” focusing on integrity and responsibility with those we serve and those we partner and collaborate with. We understand that our greatest asset on the planet is people. Even to modern economists – human beings are the greatest asset and we realize our greatest treasure.

- We believe the concept of “Identity Discovery” is paramount to maximizing potential, and to discover it one needs the tools and power to transform their lives. We assert that all human beings need to understand the connectedness with the whole world and that they have a significant part to play.

- We believe in utilizing “digital integrity and intelligence” in educating our youth to the urgency of the future of work and tech. while partnering and providing educational tools to institutions, NGO’s, various system leaders, governmental and legislative leaders and nations.

- We believe our words are important and all of our stories have transformational power. Therefore, we believe in teaching leadership, respect, honesty, integrity and accountability.

- We believe in helping men find their honor and ending demand. The understanding that lasting change comes with the need for the legacy of fatherhood is something that belongs to all men and therefore violence prevention and restorative justice is an urgent necessity.

- We believe in being resilience led and are focused to create social justice and lasting change in the lives of those we have the privilege to serve and those that we collaborate with. Therefore, healing, self-care, mental health, physical and dream building, and goal setting is paramount to all we do.

- We believe in inclusion: we serve all who come and we are non-exclusionary, although our main focus is specific to certain demographics. Therefore, we also believe in long lasting partnerships plus community and global relationships.

  We Employ a Language of Culture:

  - Empathetic understanding when relating to the life circumstances of others.
  - Knowing that our diverse nation and world is full of challenges related to culture, including pop culture, gang culture, rape culture and socio-economic cultures
  - Understanding that some cultures are falsely linked to race, leasing to cultural racism, when there is truly only one race - the human race
  - Helping NGO’s, Law Enforcement, Companies and Educators do what they do best, even better

The importance of effective professional development (PD) in the anti-human trafficking field, its root causes and prevention education is well-known,* and it becomes increasingly important when implementing new processes and technology. Technology and its future, and new identifications are just tools; the real impact comes from how those tools are used to improve human exploitation prevention, teaching and learning. Along with the rollout of devices and software, empower your staff with professional development designed for them.

TRAINING: From competitive prices and interactive online training to in-person professional development provided by one of our outstanding staff or partners, we offer a variety of ways to meet your development goals.
CERTIFICATION: Performance-based certifications help individuals show what they have accomplished and distinguish themselves amongst their peers. NGO's, and educators can use our certifications to validate different levels of mastery and expertise.

COMMUNITY: Effective PD doesn’t happen in a single sitting. With More Too Life, Inc’s new global process and our partner communities, the learning continues in-person and online with a like-minded group of dedicated educators. More Too Life, Inc and our partners offer a wide range of professional development options so that whether you are an activist, executive director, CEO, advocate, doctor, professional, mentor, teacher, school leader, trainer, or district administrator, you can find a solution that works for you.

On how it affects our state, country and the world

Sex trafficking is the primary type of trafficking in Florida, followed by forced domestic labor, farm labor and construction labor. Most identified victims of sex slavery and CSEC (commercial sexual exploitation of children) are females, however, the amount of trafficked boys is steadily increasing. Florida is ranked 3rd in the reported prevalence in human trafficking in the United States, following Texas and California. Sex trafficking is the most common form of trafficking in the United States which includes all of US territories. It takes place in various locations, including illicit massage parlors, motel rooms, private homes and over the internet. The FBI and Homeland Security works relentlessly together with state and local law enforcement to identify victims and hold traffickers and buyers accountable. Human trafficking is the fastest growing crime in the world, and it is estimated that around 25 million victims are trapped in modern-day slavery, of which the majority are exploited for labor.

Challenges to Victim Identification

In many instances, both minor and adult victims of human trafficking are isolated and have been taught by their trafficker to fear law enforcement, or to lie about their circumstances. Victims of trafficking may be scared of law enforcement because of their participation in unlawful activity, such as prostitution, or, in the case of foreign victims, their undocumented status or experiences with corrupt or violent authorities in their home country. Traffickers exploit these fears by threatening the victim with arrest, detention, or deportation if encountered by authorities. In some cases, the victim is attempting to escape other problems in his or her life that the trafficker exploits to ensure the victim’s compliance, such as an abusive family, drug addiction, or extreme poverty.

FUNDAMENTALS COURSE

Skill Level: Beginner to Intermediate

EDUCATE on all forms of Human Trafficking and its intersection with Prostitution and Root Causes

Human Trafficking is the recruitment, transportation, capture or receipt of persons, by means of force, fraud, coercion or abduction; the abuse of power in a position of vulnerability and giving or receiving of payments for the control over another person, for the purpose of exploitation. This is the challenge. We need to think of the words “force, fraud and coercion” especially when working with minors. When 92% of adult prostituted persons were violated as children, it truly states that they are or were victims, therefore, “if children become what they see in terms of human development then it should not be difficult to understand why “yes actually can mean no” (Brook Bello), when victims that do not realize they are victims are questioned. The root causes cross sectors with global human development challenges and various systems and this course teaches the fundamental strategies for implementing MTL in all forms of classrooms, in the NGO victim, in foster care centers, or community centers. A basic level of computer literacy is necessary. Advocates, Educators, Law Enforcement and other actors can start here to begin supercharging their mentoring, HT knowledge and teaching practice to save time and support mentee learning.

Though Outreach

Even though human trafficking is illegal in every country, issues surrounding it often intensify when laws aren't enforced and there is a misunderstanding regarding the victim's identification and offender jurisdiction. More Too Life, Inc, has an immediate first care advocacy and response process when called upon as well as, community awareness initiatives in schools, hospitals and the judicial courts. Additionally, our founder has been a key figure in the anti-trafficking movement and the language and input in legislation that has passed federally and in the Florida legislature which has directly affected millions of victims across the nation.
The COMING HOME App

The first self-performance assessment and safety app and online interface, with a focus on human trafficking and its prevention, created by Dr. Brook Parker-Bello, with developer Kevin Angell.

“Coming Home” is not a place but a destiny of discovering who you are. A place where those we get to serve every day can become confident in their own skin as they uncover their amazing identities and the potential and opportunities for the many goals that can lead to a great future.

Digital communication is key for those we mentor and seek to reach. The app and online interface is made to adapt to all of your individual case management needs. Features include video chat and messaging capabilities, location-based services through geo-fencing, facial recognition and a digital journal platform.

More Too Life, Inc Innovative Educational THE Prevention Groups

MTL Groups are communities of advocates and professionals and others who learn, share, and inspire each other to meet the needs of youth in the prevention of HTE with innovative processes and technology solutions. With MTL Groups our Community will build relationships with other leaders and gain the necessary skills needed to bring innovation in HTE Prevention Models and technology to their company, community and world.

MTL Groups run events that vary in format, subject, style, and length. Some may be formal, some may be network-focused, some may be in-person, while others may be run entirely online. There is no one way to run a good MTL event; we encourage MTL leaders to organize events that are right for them and their group’s participants.

WORK WITH OUR STAFF CONSULTANT OR PARTNER

More Too Life Inc’s Professional Development HTE Prevention and Partners are the highest-quality training organizations in the field. They are considered an extension of the MTL team, and our experts across our growing network and tools, will drive incredible results through the training practices. Most of all engage victims, youth, community and all professionals in the urgent aspect of prevention and human development in the age of tech. Most victims and high-risk youth are left behind and with the future of work and the vast iterations of tech, virtual reality and the massive growth in Silicon Valley beyond our current tech processes that most aren’t even aware of, not realizing that tech savvy companies are light years ahead of most citizens let alone high-risk youth, foster care youth and victims of HTE or other violence. The idea of being left behind is not an option and us and our partners can work with you to create a custom plan that meets all your HTE prevention training and technology education implementation needs. We can also help ensure your NGO or company is well equipped to maintain a successful professional development THE Prevention and Digital Integrity program beyond the initial training sessions.
